

The health of my school

By Jack

At St. Stephens. School they do all they can to ensure the physical and spiritual health of all of the pupils (me.) Here we're safe and free to have fun whilst learning but teachers are stern when they need to be.

In this report I'll be reviewing the all-round health of our school. I'll look at clubs in which I take part; childline that helps our spiritual health; the fact that most that can walk to school and the useful facilities.

Clubs- Physical Health

At St. Stephens we have a massive variety of clubs where pupils have fun, learn teamwork and improve skills. We've earned countless trophies in many sports and improve our confidence in sport by displaying our awards in a cabinet. Our sports include tag rugby, cricket, netball, football and many more. The facilities for these are 4 star at least and in general are fun and extremely good.

St. Stephen's girls football team. (Winning)

Spiritual Health

At St. Stephens do all that they can to spiritually keep our health up. They bring in people from childline to teach us about good and evil people in the world and online. Also they let us find extra meaning to learning and encourage us to share what we've discovered with friends so, later on, they can find other hidden meanings. This provokes responsibility in learning. As well as those, our motto is HEART and that stands for: Helping Everyone Acept and Respect Together. This creates a gentle atmosphere throughout the school.

School Trips

At St. Stephens we have a lot of trips to improve our bravery and a lot more. The trips include Abernant where we go on an adventurous trip to a building in the country-side; New-barn where you experience going away for the near-too first time and the Ashmolean where we learned about our history. I, personally, extremely enjoyed all of these experiences and can remember them clearer than glass because they were such a memorable experience.

I hope you have enjoyed my essay and that you'll agree, St. Stephens is, without question, a healthy school.